

Pastor Nominating Committee Second Presbyterian Church 11/2022

Beth Sigler (Moderator) was born & raised in Little Rock, AR and is a lifelong member of Second Presbyterian Church. She attended Rhodes College in Memphis, TN, graduating with a Bachelor of Business degree with emphasis in Accounting. She is a CPA and currently works as Commercial Lending Portfolio Manager at Regions Bank. Her career has spanned 31 years, working in public and private accounting and banking. She is enjoying her passions of working with numbers, maintaining relationships with her customers, and being part of a terrific team of folks.

Beth loves being involved at Second, currently as a member of the Adult Education Ministry and a Confirmation Mentor for the current confirmation class. Most recently, Beth served a second term as Deacon after co-chairing the Church's Second Beginnings Capital Campaign. In addition to her involvement at church, Beth is an active member of the board of Ferncliff Camp & Conference Center and is the chair of the Finance Committee. Beth loves the outdoors, reading, and travel, specifically European river cruises. She also loves spending time with friends and family, whatever the location or venue.

Greg Adams (and wife Syd) joined Second Presbyterian in 1987. They have two young adult children, Lora and Noah, and all members of the family have been active in the life of the church. Greg leads the Seeking More Light Sunday School Class, has served as an Elder and confirmation mentor, and has chaperoned many youth events and trips. He previously served on the Pastor Nominating Committee which led to the church calling Bill Poe as pastor. Greg is the Program Coordinator for the Center for Good Mourning at Arkansas Children's Hospital where he has worked as a social worker for 31 years and is an adjunct professor with UA-Little Rock. He is a long-time community volunteer and currently serves on the Little Rock School Board.

Christina Littlejohn is the CEO of Arkansas Symphony Orchestra, the leading employer of professional performing artists in the state of Arkansas. Shortly after she moved here twelve years ago, she joined Second Presbyterian Church. In that time, she has served as an Elder, Deacon, and handbell cello accompanist. She is mother to Jubilee Leenhouts, a fifteen-year-old at LR Central High School. In the past two years, Christina has become an executive coach, certified through the International Coaching Federation and has earned ACC status.

Jim Marsh grew up in the Presbyterian Church in a Chicago suburb. Since high school days, he has been well-traveled, including years in Boston and Detroit. Eighteen years ago, as empty-nesters, Jim and his wife Susan moved to Little Rock and joined Second Presbyterian Church, where they have been active members. Jim and Susan have two sons, including one son and fiancé in New York City, and son, daughter-in-law and two grandkids in Chicago. In Little Rock, Jim was the Chair of the Department of Internal Medicine at UAMS since 2004, and a senior cardiologist. He also served as the UAMS Chief of Staff for several years. He retired from UAMS a year ago but remains professor emeritus. Jim has been a leader in national medical organizations and has extensive experience with searches and recruiting executives for non-profit organizations. He now has a bit more time for visiting family, biking, hiking and travel, as Covid restrictions permit.

Kathryn McMillian has been a member of Second Presbyterian since she was in 7th grade. After college, she took a long hiatus and returned to the church 11 years ago reactivating her membership with the birth of her first daughter. She has taught Sunday preschool for 5 years, now shepherds in Bible Village and has served on the Children's Sunday school committee for the past 3 years. She served as a deacon 2019-2021, and served on the Families with Young Children committee then.

Kathryn received her bachelor's degree in social justice from Emory University and then a Masters in Social Services from Bryn Mawr in 2005. She is married to Brian McMillian, and has 2 children- Keers (11 years) and Peyton (8 years). After working at UAMS in the department of psychiatry for 8 years as an outpatient mental health therapist, she started private practice in 2013. At present, she still works in private practice and treats ages 14 and above and works with trauma, anxiety, depression, and eating disorders. When she is not attending her son's baseball or her daughter's volleyball games, she is trying to find a game of tennis somewhere.

Jennifer Rigby joined Second Presbyterian in 2019, having transferred from First Presbyterian Church of North Little Rock / Argenta along with husband Jeremy and elementary school-aged sons Alex and Fisher. Jennifer was an ordained elder at Argenta Presbyterian and is currently serving as a deacon at Second Pres. She has been active in children's Sunday School previously through Argenta Presbyterian and currently serves on our Families Ministry. Jennifer has worked in the pediatric audiology clinic at Arkansas Children's Hospital for 15 years and enjoys helping families identify and manage their children's hearing needs from birth through early adulthood; prior contributions also included clinic management and supervision. She and husband Jeremy volunteer with the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and enjoy time outdoors.

Jón Cordell Stevenson is the son of Terry and Dr. Sharon Stevenson and brother of Terrance and Dr. Valerie Stevenson. Jón received both his Bachelors in Instrumental Music Education and Masters in Music from Arkansas State University. He currently serves as the Band Director at Malvern Middle School and the Assistant Band Director at Malvern High School. Jón has been a member of Second Presbyterian Church since the summer of 2017. Jón is a proud member of the SPC Adult Choir and Chamber Choir, which is what drove him to become a member. He has served as a Deacon and is also a sponsor for SPY (Second Presbyterian Youth). Jón strongly feels it is essential to use the talents God has given you and give them back as much as you can, as best you can.
