COVENANT

Second Presbyterian Church

The members of Second Presbyterian Church believe that we are called by God to be the body of Christ in our community and that involved in this calling is the responsibility to create and maintain safe and supportive environments for all children, youth, and at-risk adults in our care. During each baptism of an infant, child, or adult into this covenant community of faith, the members of this church promise to support and encourage that person by nurture and fellowship. Creating and being faithful to thoughtful guidelines for protection of children, youth, and at-risk adults is part of our promise of support and nurture. In the midst of efforts to provide such protection, we acknowledge that we are all dependent upon God's grace and mercy and are not called to condemn but to treat all persons, including those who may have caused harm to others, with compassion, respect, and fairness. We, the members of Second Presbyterian Church, therefore, commit ourselves and our actions to the safety, welfare, and protection of all children, youth, and at-risk adults participating in the activities and programs of this church.
